A first impression

This charming beauty, which was built around 1933, combines timeless elegance with historic charm on a living space of around 217 m². Seven spacious rooms, a large hallway, a cozy kitchen as well as two bathrooms and a guest WC offer a comfortable home with historical flair. As soon as you enter through the practical vestibule, you are greeted by a spacious hallway on the first floor, which connects all the rooms on this level. To the right is a spacious kitchen with enough room for a cozy seating area. The impressive bay window room treats you to a wonderful view of the water. Open access to the living room ensures a harmonious living experience with a wider view of the Hubertussee. The terrace in front invites you to step out into the lovingly landscaped garden and enjoy the proximity to the water - an ideal place to unwind. A stylish sliding door with glass insert leads from the living room to the cozy fireplace room, which provides additional warmth on chilly days. A practical guest WC successfully rounds off this level and underlines the well thought-out floor plan. An elegant solid wood staircase provides access to the upper floor. Floor-to-ceiling windows and the balcony in front provide plenty of light and an open feeling of space in the stairwell. Three spacious rooms, which can be used flexibly, offer space for the whole family. A stylishly designed bathroom with bathtub, almost level-access shower and large washbasin is another highlight on this level. The top floor houses a Finnish sauna - the perfect place to relax after a stressful day. A modern shower room on this floor provides the necessary refreshment after a sauna session. Two balconies on both the upper floor and the top floor offer you a fantastic view of the Hubertussee, which serves as an idyllic oasis for both people and animals and invites you to dream. The property has a full basement and offers enough space for your individual needs on approx. 88 m² of usable space. There are four large cellar rooms and a utility room. The modern gas condensing boiler (built in 2022) provides cozy warmth throughout the house. In addition to the unique waterfront location, the approx. 1,043 m² property has a lot more to offer. A shore front of approx. 9.80 m invites you to spend leisurely hours by the water or to pursue your hobby as a water sports enthusiast or angler. From here, you can easily reach the Müggelspree by boat, which will take you to the Dämeritzsee, the Müggelsee and all the way to the city or even the Baltic Sea. Overgrown with beautiful trees and shrubs, the area offers a green oasis of peace and relaxation. A beautifully landscaped path leads across the property to the front area, where there is a practical double carport, which can be easily reached by vehicle via a driveway with an electrically operated gate. The location of the property is ideal: there is a bus stop on line 161 within walking distance, which takes you quickly to the Wilhelmshagen S-Bahn station and the Erkner regional train station. Two restaurants, two supermarkets and a 4-star hotel with restaurant are also within easy walking distance. The quick connection via the A10 to BER airport and the TESLA factory also makes the location particularly attractive. This unique detached house combines historical architecture with modern living comfort and, with its south-facing orientation and incomparable location on the Hubertussee, offers a home in a class of its own - a place where nature is within reach and everyday life comes to rest.
